; hereinafter collectively referred to as the “Parties” and individually to as the “Party”.

Recitals

Whereas each party (the "Disclosing Party") may wish to share with the other party (the "Receiving Party") on an ongoing basis document(s) and/or information (a) pertaining to investment/business opportunities whether with the Disclosing Party or a third party; and/or (b) concerning and/or belonging to a Referred Person whom the Disclosing Party wishes to refer or introduce to the Receiving Party (hereinafter referred to as the "Purpose").

Disclosing Party and Receiving Party shall include all its respective Affiliates, Representatives, etc. Representatives shall consist of all directors, advisers, employees, officers, or agents.

The Receiving Party understands that it may obtain certain Confidential Information about the Disclosing Party, its business contacts and associated parties, and any other relevant information from the Disclosing Party.

In this Agreement, the following words shall have the following meanings:

> Affiliates of a party shall mean any other person or legal entity, directly or indirectly controlling or controlled by or under the direct or indirect common control with such party; or (ii) any beneficial owner of shares representing 50% or more of the nominal value of the issued equity share capital of a party. For this definition, "control" when used concerning a party means the power to direct the management and policies of such person or legal entity, directly or indirectly, whether through ownership or voting securities, by contract or otherwise; and the terms "controlling" and controlled" have meanings correlative to the foregoing.
> Confidential Information shall mean
> - all information which is disclosed by the Disclosing Party to the Receiving Party, whether in writing, pictorially, in machine-readable form or orally or by observation by the Receiving Party in connection with the Purpose (including, but without limitation, financial information, know-how, processes, ideas, inventions whether patentable or not, schematics, trade secrets, technology, customer lists potential or actual and other customer-related information, supplier lists, sales statistics, market intelligence, marketing and other business strategies and other business or commercial information of a confidential nature) whether or not such information is specifically identified as "confidential" ("Primary Confidential Information"), and all analyses, compilations, studies and other records and documents prepared by the Receiving Party or its Representatives which contain or otherwise reflect such information or the Receiving Party's review or analysis of such information ("Secondary Confidential Information");

- this Agreement, information relating to the Purpose, and the fact that discussions pertaining to the Purpose are taking place; and

- in the event of the termination, the discussions that have taken place, and the content of such discussions;

but does not include information: -

- which is or becomes publicly available, other than because of a breach of this Agreement by the Receiving Party;

- which is obtained by the Receiving Party or its Representatives from a third person who is not prohibited from transmitting the information to the Receiving Party or its Representatives by a contractual, legal, fiduciary, or other obligation to the Disclosing Party;

- which was already in the Receiving Party's possession not pursuant to any breach of any contractual, legal, fiduciary, or other obligation to the Disclosing Party before receipt of such Confidential Information under this Agreement; and

- which becomes lawfully available to the Receiving Party pursuant to any disclosure under any relevant law or any binding judgment or order of a court or stock exchange regulation.

Referred Person shall mean any individual (including but not limited to a potential business partner, vendor, purchaser, and/or any interested third party), with whom the Disclosing Party has a relationship related to the Purpose at the time of the introduction, who does not have any two-way written communication with the Receiving Party during a period of one (1) year from the date of the introduction by the Disclosing Party.

IN CONSIDERATION of the Disclosing Party furnishing the Receiving Party with Confidential Information for the Purpose, the Receiving Party agrees to the following terms and conditions:

1. The Receiving Party shall use the Confidential Information solely for the Purpose, which includes disclosing such Confidential Information to a third party(s) to whom the Receiving Party may wish to introduce the Referred Person. This third party includes the party with whom the Referred Person may ultimately enter into a transaction or business opportunity. The Receiving Party shall take all necessary steps and precautions to protect the Confidential Information against any unauthorized disclosure in violation of this Agreement.

2. Without the prior written consent of the Disclosing Party, the Receiving Party shall not, except as hereinafter provided, disclose, in any manner whatsoever, in whole or in part, any of the Confidential Information or any information derived from there to any person, nor shall it use the Confidential Information for any purpose other than that stated in this Agreement.

3. The Receiving Party shall notify the Disclosing Party in writing immediately upon it becoming aware of the occurrence of any unauthorized release of Confidential Information or other breaches of this Agreement.

4. The Receiving Party shall not copy or reproduce in any way (including, without limitation, store in any computer or electronic system) any information or any documents containing Primary Confidential Information without the Disclosing Party's prior written consent except in connection with the Purpose.

5. The Receiving Party

   - shall limit the use of and access to Confidential Information to those Representatives of the Receiving Party who need to know the Confidential Information for the Purposes;

   - shall treat the Confidential Information with reasonable care (at least at the same level of care as if it were its own) to prevent unauthorized access, destruction, corruption and shall take all necessary steps and precautions to ensure that its Representatives will maintain the confidentiality of the Confidential Information as outlined in this Agreement;

   - shall keep all Confidential Information separate from all documents and other records of the Receiving Party;

   - shall keep all documents and any other material bearing or incorporating any of the Confidential Information only at the usual place of business of the Receiving Party;

   - shall not use, reproduce, transform, or store any of the Confidential Information in an externally accessible computer or electronic information retrieval system or transmit it in any form or by any means whatsoever outside of its usual place of business. In any event, the Receiving Party shall be fully responsible for any breach of this Agreement by any of its Representatives;

   - shall not carry out business with any of the revealed Contacts without the written consent of the Disclosing Party.

6. The Receiving Party shall upon request by the Disclosing Party; or upon either Party withdrawing from or discontinuing negotiations relating to the Purpose by giving 3 working days written notice to the other Party;

   immediately cease to make any further use of or otherwise exploit any Confidential Information.

7. The Receiving Party shall deliver to the Disclosing Party or destroy at the Disclosing Party's instructions, all materials containing Confidential Information, including, but not limited to, copies thereof of analyses, compilations, studies, and other records and documents containing Confidential Information prepared by the Receiving Party or its Representatives).
   In the event that any Confidential Information is stored electronically, the Receiving Party shall take such reasonable or practicable steps (as if it were its own) to immediately erase all such Confidential Information from all computer memories and storage media in the possession or control of the Receiving Party or its Representative. Notwithstanding the return or destruction of any such materials, the Receiving Party and its Representatives shall remain obligated under this Agreement to hold the Confidential Information in strict confidence.

8. Notwithstanding the withdrawal from discussions with regards to the Purpose or the failure to reach an agreement to implement the Purpose by either Party, the Receiving Party or its Representatives shall not implement or develop any businesses or business strategies by using the Confidential Information or otherwise use the Confidential Information for any purpose other than that contemplated under this agreement. To avoid doubt, this undertaking shall not cover any business or product developed by the Receiving Party which was not developed from the Confidential Information but developed by the Receiving Party without using or otherwise exploiting the Confidential Information.

9. In the event that the Receiving Party becomes compelled (pursuant to any law or regulation or the requirements of any regulatory authority, with whose rules the Receiving Party is required by law to comply) to disclose any part of the Confidential Information, the fact that Confidential Information has been made available, that discussions or negotiations are taking place or have taken place concerning the Purpose or any of the terms, conditions or other information relating to the Purpose, including the status thereof, the Receiving Party shall promptly (and, in any event, before complying with any such requirement) notify the Disclosing Party in writing of the same and of the action which is proposed to be taken in response. In such event, the Receiving Party shall take complete account of any reasonable representations of the Disclosing Party, whether concerning the form, manner, or extent of disclosure. The Receiving Party shall only disclose such information to the extent that the Receiving Party is compelled to reveal it. The Receiving Party shall use reasonable efforts to ensure that confidential treatment will be accorded to such information. Subject to this paragraph, the parties agree that the content of any public announcement required to be made by law or regulation or the requirements of any stock exchange or other regulatory authority shall be agreed upon between the parties before its release.

10. The Receiving Party acknowledges that damages are not a sufficient remedy for the Disclosing Party for any breach of any of the Receiving Party's undertakings herein provided. The Receiving Party further acknowledges that the remedies of specific performance or injunctive relief (as appropriate) are appropriate remedies for any breach or threatened breach of such undertakings by the Receiving Party. Any said remedies of specific performance or injunctive relief, if pursued, shall be without prejudice to any other remedies available to the Disclosing Party at law or in equity.

11. The Receiving Party and its Representatives do not acquire any intellectual property rights or other rights to Confidential Information or other information of the Disclosing Party under this Agreement or disclosed or obtained hereunder, except the limited right to use Confidential Information under this Agreement. The Receiving Party acknowledges and agrees that no warranties of any kind, whether express or implied, are given concerning any information disclosed or obtained under this Agreement or the accuracy, completeness, or correctness. None of the Disclosing Party or any of its officers, representatives, or agents shall have any liability to the Receiving Party or its Representatives or any other person connected with the use of or reliance upon such information or for any errors therein or omissions therefore.

12. This Agreement and the disclosure of Confidential Information hereunder shall not constitute or imply any promise or intention, or obligation on the Disclosing Party to accept any offer or proposal which may be made by the Receiving Party or on its behalf, during negotiations in connection with the Purpose. If the parties subsequently enter into binding commitments relating to the Purpose, such commitments shall be explicitly stated in a separate written agreement executed by both parties. The parties affirm that any discussions, correspondence, and other activities hereunder shall not be construed as forming a contract relating to the Purpose without executing such separate written agreement.

13. No failure or delay by either party in exercising or enforcing any right, remedy, or power hereunder shall operate as a waiver thereof, nor shall any single or partial exercise or enforcement of any right, remedy, or power preclude any further exercise or enforcement thereof or the exercise or enforcement of any other right, remedy or Power.

14. If any provision of this Agreement shall be invalid, illegal, or unenforceable in any jurisdiction, the remaining provisions hereof shall remain in full force and effect and the parties hereto agree, to the fullest extent they may effectively do so that the validity, legality, and enforceability of such provision in other jurisdictions, and the validity, legality, and enforceability of the other provisions in such jurisdiction, shall not in any way be affected or impaired thereby.

15. This Agreement supersedes all prior discussions and writings concerning the subject matter hereof and constitutes the entire agreement between the parties concerning the subject matter. No waiver or modification of this Agreement will be binding upon either party unless made in writing and signed by a duly authorized representative of each party.

16. The Receiving Party shall indemnify the Disclosing Party against all claims, actions, damages, losses, costs (including solicitor and client costs on an indemnity basis), and expenses howsoever and whatsoever incurred that the Disclosing Party may incur or be subjected to as a result of or in connection with any breach by the Receiving Party and/or its Representatives of its obligations under this Agreement.

17. Unless specifically designated otherwise in this Agreement or by writing, the parties' obligations under this Agreement shall continue for three (3) years from the date of disclosure of the Confidential Information.

18. This Agreement is governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the British Virgin Islands without giving effect to any choice or conflict of law provision or rule that would cause the application of the laws of any jurisdiction other than the British Virgin Islands.

19. NON-SOLICITATION & NON-CIRCUMVENTION: Each Party agrees that it shall not, without the prior written consent of the Disclosing Party, circumvent or attempt to circumvent the Disclosing Party in connection with any specific transaction or deal opportunity that has been introduced by the Disclosing Party (an "Introduced Deal"). "Introduced Deal" shall mean a specific deal, transaction, project, or investment opportunity (including any materially similar restructuring, refinancing, or reorganization of the same) that is first presented in writing by the Disclosing Party to the Receiving Party. If an Introduced Deal proceeds with a counterparty first introduced by the Disclosing Party, the Parties shall agree to share in the fees, commissions, or other economic benefits generated by such deal, in accordance with a separate written agreement. Nothing in this clause shall restrict a Party from engaging with a counterparty with whom it had a documented pre-existing relationship prior to introduction, or from pursuing opportunities that the counterparty independently presents to it without reliance on the Disclosing Party's Confidential Information.
